Re: Estate of Charles Freitag, Sr.

Dear Mr. Feinberg:

The following is our analysis of the values of the losses in lifetime earning capacity (net of personal maintenance), relative to Charles Freitag. Mr. Freitag passed away on August 25, 2018.

The estimates presented are based on Civil Rights damage guidelines.

Documents Reviewed

- Amended Complaint
- Income Tax Returns : 2015-2018
- Thrift Savings Plan 2016 Annual Statement
- Various Publications/Source Documents

Background

Charles Freitag, Sr. was born on August 31, 1960. At the time of his death, he was 57.98 years of age, with an average statistical life expectancy of an additional 23.3 years (Life Tables, 2017 : from age 58).

Freitag001497

JA0000314

Mr. Freitag had been employed with the United States Postal Service from October, 1993 to the time of his passing. Mr. Freitag's earnings with the USPS from 2015 to 2018 were as follows:

2015	$78,980
2016	$73,322
2017	$61,622
2018	$46,012

Mr. Freitag had been sentenced to serve in prison for a period of 6 to 12 years on August 24, 2018.

Mr. Freitag is survived by his son, Charles Freitag, Jr.

Methodology

Lifetime Earning Capacity

Given 1) Mr. Freitag's background/experience and 2) economic principles, we have estimated lifetime earning capacity to be $71,308 annually. This figure is based on his average earnings from 2015 to 2017.

At this time, we have presented estimates of lifetime earning capacity assuming that Mr. Freitag would have returned to his employment with the USPS, based on the following release dates:

Age 64	(Serve 6 years)
Age 66	(Serve 8 years)
Age 70	(Serve 12 years)

Duration of Estimates

Earning capacity is estimated to the date that Charles Freitag, Sr. would have attained 72.

This assumption, as a measure of earning capacity, considers 1) the fact that there is no mandatory retirement age in the United States, 2) that labor force participation for the older population has been increasing (Older Workers : Labor Force Trends and Career Options) and 3) data from the Journal of Forensic Economics relative to labor force participation and retirement trends.

Future Growth

Based on data from 1) Congressional Budget Office (Budget and Economic Outlook) and 2) research regarding USPS historical wage growth, future wage growth has been estimated to be 2.0% annually.

Personal Maintenance

Based on data from the Consumer Expenditure Survey, and available research ("Personal Consumption and Single Persons" : Journal of Forensic Economics) personal maintenance expenses have been estimated to be 37% of earnings (including un-reimbursed expenses)

Personal maintenance has been estimated consistent with the guidelines set forth in the McClinton v. White decision. That is, PA guidelines consider that personal maintenance represents the reasonable expenses for food, shelter, clothing, transportation, medical care and some recreation that enables individuals to produce income. Further, personal maintenance is not total consumption, and therefore, the net losses presented do not represent savings.

Benefits

The value of employer-provided benefits is a component of an individual's earning capacity. Mr. Freitag received employer-provided benefits with the USPS, that included health insurance and retirement contributions (FERS & TSP matching). Based on 1) information provided and 2) data from www.opm.gov, we have estimated the value of employer-provided benefits to be 27.3% of earnings.

Earning Capacity

Earning capacity may be defined as that level of income, which an individual may reasonably be expected to receive from work given that individual's age, level of educational attainment, particular skills and talents, actual earnings and work history, intentions, and the supply and demand conditions in the labor market relative to the individual's realistic employment choices. It should be noted that the realization of earning capacity (utilization of earnings) may be a function of both economic and non-economic factors and is not a measure of potential earning capacity.

Discount Rate

The present values of future earnings have been estimated based on a discount rate of 3.0%. This discount rate is based on the average yield on short-term treasury securities over the past twenty years (www.treas.gov : adjusted for recent low yields), as well as forecasts provided by the Congressional Budget Office. In our opinion, this discount rate represents a reasonable rate of return for a riskless investment.

Summary of Opinions

Based upon the methodology discussed and the information provided to date, we have estimated the loss in earning capacity (net of personal maintenance) relative to Charles Freitag, Sr., to be in the range of $116,586 to $480,595.

The opinions presented are within a reasonable degree of economic certainty. We reserve the right to revise our analysis if additional information is provided that impacts on the data and assumptions utilized.

The following pages are detailed summary tables of the estimates. If you have any questions, please contact us.

Sincerely,

Andrew C. Verzilli, M.B.A.
